Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 20,-The Dona Ana county road board is following up the appointment of its deputies in all the precincts of the county by a systematic plan of bulletins, which go out to these deputies at various intervals. Bulletins 1 and 2 have already been issued. The first contains the general instructions and statement of policies, which are summarized in the general instructions and statement of policies, which are summarized in the following quotations from the bulletin: "The road board desires the coopera-tion of its deputies in a number of ways, among which the following have already been determined upon: "The most effective application pos-sible in each precipited of the board are

"The most effective application possible in each precinct of the road tax which the law requires annually in either cash or labor.

"The dragging of all roads when moist conditions prevail where draging can be done advantageously.

"Prompt attention to repairs urgently needed on roads or bridges in each precing."

"The stopping of the flooding of roads and the enforcement of the law in that connection. "Better care taken of the county

"Better care taken of the county road machinery property.

"The advice of the deputies on all road improvements needed in the various precincts."

The bulletin limits the authority of road board deputies to an expense not exceeding $25, unless specially authorized by the board; and this expense is for the present confined to the dragging of roads and to the making of urgent repairs. The bulletin also states that the board has fixed as the rate of pay for day labor $1.00 a day, and for team work from $2.00 to $3.00 per day, depending upon the team; this being left to the judgment of the deputy. A day's work shall consist of nine hours. Forms are furnished to the deputies for the making out of pay roils and blils, and a book for the keeping of accounts. The board has also contracted with the lowest bidder in the county for furnishing. eping of accounts. The board has o contracted with the lowest bidder the county for furnishing all lumfor bridges and similar purposes the present year. The bulletin closes with the words, for the present year.

The bulletin closes with the words, "The example set by Dona Ana county in road administration is being closely watched by the other counties of our state. Let us make our record for clean businesslike administration, and for a better condition of our highways, one of which any citizen of our state can well be proud. To bring this about we ask for the hearty and unselfish cooperation of every road board deputy."

Builetin No. 2 is of special interest at this time, because it refers to the collection and expenditure of the road tax. One of the objects of the Dona Ana county road board in appointing one or more deputies in every precinct is to secure a more effective application of the road tax than has heretofore existed. The bulletin, which will be of much interest to other counties, states that "one of the main objects in appointing a deputy for the county road board in each precinct is to endeavor to secure a more efficient collection and application of the road tax required by law. There is room for great improvement in some precincts upon the manner in which this work has been done in the past.

"A receipt signed by the deputy is to be given for labor performed upon the roads unless a full day's work is performed in a manner satisfactory to the deputy or foreman in charge. "No pelitical or personal discrimination shall be shown in the hiring of teams of the calling out of road tax."
The Dona Ana county road beard has already accomplished quite a good deal of work on the repair of roads. The citizens of San Miguel and vicinity have constructed, at an expense of over $1000, a road connecting San Miguel with the new bridge at Mesquite; and this work has been done entirely by voluntary labor. It is significant of the general interest taken in road matters by the people of the county. The Camino Real between Las Crucos and Anthony, a distance of 24 miles, has also been repaired in the last two weeks, and is now in splendid condition; all holes having been filled up and the road thoroughly dragged.

NEW MEXICO TO SUE TEXAS FOR $2,000,000

Dispute Over Boundary Between the Two States is to Get Into the Supreme Court.

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 20.—The Texas-New Mexico boundary, which has been the bone of legal contention for nearly three-quarters of a century, will figure largely in a suit to be filed in the supreme court of the United States at an early date, and which involves about $2,000,000. The action is one brought by the state of New Mexico against the state of Texas for possession of some 14,200 acres of fertile land in the lower Rio Grande valley. It is based upon the alregation that the Rio Grande now runs and has so run for some Years will be forwarded to Washington within a short time. It is a voluminous document, the exhibits alone occupying several hundred pages.

The claim is made that beginning at what is now the south line of the eastern half of New Mexico, and continuing south along the Rio Grande to the nouth line of the western half of the state, the stream has so changed its course since 1850, when a line up its center was decreed to be the boundary between the two states, that now about if square miles of land which was included in New Mexico is einlined by Texas. It is now on the east or Texas side of the river, but it is west of the eastern boundary line claimed by New Mexico.

The exhibits include the act of con-The exhibits include the act of congress fixing the boundary line up the center of the river; the proclamation of this act placing it force, signed by passident Millard Fillmore on Dec. 12, 1850; a map of New Mexico, and an act of congress construing a clause in the enabling act admitting New Mexico as a state, which relates to boundaries to mean the lines run by John M. Clark, a boundary commissioner, and ratified by act of congress, March 3, 1891, which lines were not to be changed but were to remain as the dividing line between the two states.
